He was of a strong constitution, and bore his age manfully until the last twelve months, when his energies visibly failed; and death took place as a natural course of a long and vigorous life. Mrs. Carlyon, of Euroa, was a daughter, and Mr. Furphy, of Shepparton, a brother. Deceased had lived an active life, in honorable pursuits, and had done yeoman service in connection with the Methodist church and Sunday schools, in various centres of the state. SLATTERY, Edmund (Edward)	30	Shepherd	Co. Tipperary, Ireland	Parents John and Catherine Slattery, father living in Tipperary; Had son, John, in 1851, Moreton Bay district; Daughter Catherine died at Sea	B	RC	Queensland State Archives Item ID518885, Register - depositions (1850-1854): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Brisbane, 17 Dec 1851: Slattery took his employer, Daniel Peterson to court for non-payment of wages. Transcription of court notes: Edward Slattery being sworn, states: since I entered Mr Peterson's service he's hunted me with a big stick called Jack the devil. On the 11th of December Mr Peterson ordered me off his premises & told me to come up to his place & he'd pay me. William Lacy was standing near but there was no one with me but myself. When I asked Mr Peterson for my wages he said he'd make me work my six months. Two men named Coussi & Leighton were present when Mr Peterson's conduct induced me to leave when he discharged me I was afraid of my life. On the 11th he discharged me he didn't give me a written discharge – he offered me my wages due. I had been with him twenty one days. I swear he didn't say he'd ay me twenty one days wages after taking out the summons I demanded wages. I demanded six months wages. I refused to go to work after I had summonsed him until then I didn't. he ordered me to go to work & I wouldn't work for him. I recollect he ordered to clean up a boat. He said I didn't know how to clean a boat. He took the bucket & showed me how to clean the boat. He gave me a new scrubbing brush. I didn't throw the brush in the bottom of the boat and I didn't refuse to work until he discharged me. I did eat and drink in Mr Peterson's house after he discharged me but I bought it myself. I didn't offer to fight with Mr Peterson there was no written discharge given me.

							It was in consequence of the verbal discharge I refused to work. I asked him for food & he wouldn't give it me. He ordered me to work after the verbal discharge & I refused to do so. Prior to summoning I asked for 21 days wages. Alice Slattery being sworn states: I am the wife of Edward Slattery. I was with my husband in the service of Mr Peterson. Mr Peterson told my husband to go off his premises last week. They had an argument because we wouldn't sleep up stairs. I had an objection to sleep up stairs because Mr Peterson came into my room and took me by the hand & said he wouldn't disturb me. I was in dread of him & I objected to sleep up stairs & the next day my husband had a quarrel with him. This was three or four days after we entered his service. It was before the second Sunday I was there. He pressed my hand. Cross examined by... I made a complaint next day to my husband & the maid. He went through my bed room, twice & came to my bed twice on to the veranda. When he took me by the hand I was complaining of mosquito bites on my legs. All Mr Peterson told me was to lie still & be quiet. I didn't make any noise at the time. Joseph Passe Cousset being sworn states: I live at Mr Alcock's in South Brisbane. The office in which I work is on Mr Peterson's wharf. I know Edward Slattery he works for Mr Peterson. I saw Edward Slattery scrubbing a boat at the wharf on the 11th. I heard a noise. Slattery told Mr Peterson he could never please him and if he wishes to pay him he'd go away from his service. Mr Peterson said be damned to you. I shall pay you. The sooner you're off my premises the better come up to the house & I'll pay you. Cross examined by Dist. Attorney: I didn't hear what amount he offered to pay. I saw the parties. I saw Slattery scrubbing the boat. Alexander Leighton being sworn states: I am a printer in Mr Alcock's office at South Brisbane. I know Edward Slattery. I saw him scrubbing a boat at Mr Peterson's wharf on the 11th. Slattery daid he couldn't please him & he'd better let him go. Peterson took the brush out of his hand & said be off my premises & be damned to you & I'll pay you. Cross examined: I was looking out at the office door at the time, not 100 yards from the boat. Ann Higgins being sworn states: I am a servant of Mr Peterson's. I know Mrs Slattery: she complained to me that MR Peterson had been pressing her hand. I don't know what day. That's all she told me. She told me seriously. Cross examined: I don't know whether it was the morning or some nights – I think it was the night after I heard Slattery say he'd put up the shutters & do no more work. Mr Peterson said he'd pay him the wages due. Slattery said he wanted six months wages. I heard this conversation when Mr Peterson said this he said he'd stop with him and fight it out for six months I don't know whether he went out to work after that. Mr Peterson asked him if he'd stop and fight for six months & he said he would stop & fight for six months. The Bench ordered balance of £1.13.6 wages 13 & 2 ½ to be paid by Mr Peterson to Edward Slattery and cancel the agreement. Patrick	8	Son	Co. Tipperary, Ireland	Orphan. Mother died at Sea	N	RC	Mary Connor took the Waterson orphans to Sydney to the Catholic Orphan School. Her husband, Martin Payton, took Patrick Waterson on as an indentured apprentice on his property at Camden. On 31 March, 1861, Patrick absconded from his employment and was believed to have headed towards Albury. Described as four foot ten inches high and had a fair complexion, fair hair and blue eyes. (NSW Police Gazette , 4 April 1861, p.2) According to family history, the Payton family maintained contact with Patrick Waterson. He was probably this man, Patrick 'Watson', who died in Burrowa (Booroowa) in 1907. According to the obituary (https://trove.nla.gov.au/newspaper/article/114457268) this man had married and had 11 children. He had been in the district for over 44 years and 'was always looked upon as a good townsman, diligent, energetic, trustworthy, and intelligent'. He had served as an alderman on the local council and had been a licensee of the Royal Hotel. The obituary is mistaken in some of the details of this man's arrival in the country (it states he was only 3 on emigration and arrived in Port Phillip) but it does state that his parents died on the voyage and that he had been employed for years at Menangle by Martin Payten. I am confident it is the same man. My earlier research had suggested that he might have died in 1868, but since the above obituary came to light, this appears to be INCORRECT. (The body of a Patrick Waterson, seaman, was found floating in the Yarra River at Melbourne in October 1868. This young man, believed to be 22 years old, of unknown parentage, was a sailor attached to the schooner Martha Lavinia . He had left the schooner in a state 'not perfectly sober' on 11 October. He was last seen in the middle of that night, drunk, in Bourke Street in the company of a 'disreputable' woman. When his body was found on 19 October, it was judged to have been a week in the water. The verdict of his inquest was 'accidentally drowned' http://trove.nla.gov.au/newspaper/article/177004714) The drowned man may have been the same Patrick Waterson as the following: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Darlinghurst Gaol description book: 1864. Patrick Waterson, ship: Sandringham, from Ireland, RC, Trade: seaman; age 20 Height 5'7"; hair dark, eyes blue; R & W Patrick Waterson committed by J Cullen 30 June 1864 - offence: disobedience; sentence ?; 5 July: to W? Police Office Date: Aug 27, 1864; committed by Walter Church; offence desertion; sentence 4 wks labour, disposed of: sent to ship ? Sept

She had an illegitimate son, Walter Edwin Patrick Whiteford, born 23 May 1871. No father is named on his birth certificate. His death certificate claims his father was John Tolman. However, Mary Jane's death certificate states that before she wed John Tolman, she was married in Brisbane to 'Massey' and bore him a child, Walter Massey. The marriage did not take place but the boy's father may have been a man named 'Massey'. Mary Jane Whiteford was a newly-arrived 20-year-old Irish servant when she fell pregnant; she gave birth to Walter while living at the Servants' Home in Ann Street. Walter probably knew no other father and considered John Tolman to be his father, whether or not he was biologically.

I have not found evidence that he was master of a pearling lugger. This may have been his son. John Tolman snr is only ever listed as a shipwright or carpenter in official documents I have seen (BDM, insolvency records, Benevolent Asylum admission) Son John Tolman was involved in salvage dives for the wreck of the Quetta.
